BAGGIN'S CATERING SUGGESTIONS

At Baggin's we try our best to guide our customers in choosing the right amount of food for their events. There are many variables in choosing the right sandwich to person ratio. We find that a full sandwich to person is often too much in an office setting but just right for a sporting event. We know how important having enough food is for your function as well as getting the most value out of your catering dollar.
